DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to Applicant's application filed December 14, 2005.

National Stage Application

The Examiner has considered the international preliminary examination report (IPER).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-2 and 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tashiro et al. (US 2002/0159563, hereafter Tashiro).

With respect to independent Claims 1 and 6, Tashiro discloses a radiation detector (Fig.5) comprising an electrode structure (120); a planarising layer (105) being disposed over the electrode structure (120) and a protective stack (106, 108), which covers the planarising layer (105).

With respect to Claim 2, Tashiro discloses the planarising layer (105) is formed as a polymer layer (Paragraph 0063).

With respect to Claim 4, Tashiro discloses a conversion layer (107) to convert incident radiation into secondary radiation (Fig. 5).

With respect to Claim 5, Tashiro discloses the conversion layer is included in the protective stack (Fig. 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tashiro et al. (US 2002/0159563, hereafter Tashiro) in view of Homme et al. (US 2006/0038131, hereafter Homme).

With respect to Claim 3, Tashiro discloses the protective stack but omits the stack includes a moisture resistant layer and an outer cover. Homme discloses a radiation image sensor having the entire surfaces of the scintillator (16) are covered with a moisture resistant film (18) and this moisture resistant film (18) is protected by a second protective film (19) (Paragraph 0149). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the protective stack of Tashiro with the moisture resistant layer and an outer cover as suggested by Homme in view of making the scintillator completely resistant against water vapor (Paragraph 0152).
